

Texan Time: Planned Intervention and Enrichment Flex Time

Our campus has developed a plan to ensure all students receive additional time and support for their learning when they need additional time to master the learning target, would benefit from a pre-teach of selected material, or are ready for an enrichment opportunity. By embedding flexible intervention time in our master schedule, we can provide students with targeted and timely intervention. Our flex intervention time (Texan Time) is held Monday through Thursday and students are selected for this time by their teachers. Teachers review data during their collaborative team meetings and determine Texan Time session topics based on student needs. Next, the team determines the number of students for each session, and students are then assigned. Below is an overview of the actual selection process and what students and teachers see:

Student Selection:

Teachers select students for intervention/enrichment based on current assessment data. Teachers make their selections by clicking the "Select" button located next to student names on our SRHS PLC Links website.

Student Notification:

Teachers notify students they have been selected. Students can see their weekly Texan Time schedule on the Student Dashboard.

Attendance Tracking:

Teachers use the Texan Time attendance page on the PLC Links website to mark absent students.

Administrators also have a site where they can track student attendance and see a history of missed classes.
